Neonyt on Air

Fashion thrives on personal interactions, presentations and inspiration, as well as being able to see and feel materials and craftsmanship up close – virtual platforms can never fully replace physical events, but they can still ensure that people can meet and exchange ideas globally in times like these. With “Neonyt on Air” we are already creating exactly that, a space for knowledge and networking. More information can be found on our website and via our newsletter.
